Hydrologists research how water moves through the water cycle. This includes the movement of water from precipitation, ground water and surface waterways.

SOIL AND PLANT SCIENTIST

Soil and Plant Scientists research the properties of soil and how it impacts plant growth. They also research plant growth and characteristics, management crops and wild plants.